THE KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOL.

A Brief Review from its Foundation to the Present.

EDUCATION FOR THE HAWAIIANS.

Landed Estates Valued at Nearly a Half a Million Left to Educate the Youth of the Land—The Names of the Trustees—List of Teachers.

By the will of Hon. Bernice Pauahi Bishop, who died October 16th, 1884, landed estates to the value of $400,000, yielding an income of $10,000, were placed in charge of five trustees, for the establishment and support of two schools—one for boys, one for girls. The trustees met and organized April 9, 1885. Hon. C. R. Bishop was chosen President, Hon. S. M. Damon, Treasurer, Mr. C. M. Cooke, Secretary. These officers were to constitute the Finance Committee: the President,

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOL.

(Drawn From a Photograph.)

TRUSTEES—Hon. C. R. Bishop, President; Rev. C. M. Hyde, D. D., Vice-President; Hon. S. M. Damon, Treasurer; C. M. Cooke, Secretary; Hon. J. O. Carter, Finance Committee—Messrs. Bishop, Damon and Cooke. Educational Committee—Messrs. Bishop, Hyde and Carter. INSTRUCTORS—Theo. Richards, Principal; U. Thompson, Science and Carpentry; R. B. Anderson, Mathematics and Manual Labor; D. S. Ruevsky, Science, Civics and Printing; G. H. Babb, Drawing, Wood Turning and Military Tactics; L. O. Lyman, Superintendent Steam and Electric Plants; Mrs. Andrew, Matron; Miss Katherine Pope, English and Reading; Miss A. S. Snow, Geography and History; D. Kanaha, Tailoring; N. N. Kauhane, Assistant Forging; S. S. Mahuka, Registrar.

with the two other Trustees, Rev. C. M. Hyde, D. D., and Hon. W. O. Smith, constituted the Educational Committee. The boys' school was located at Palama, August 20, 1886. Rev. W. B. Oleson, Principal of the Hilo Boys' Boarding School was chosen Principal of the Kamehameha Manual Training School for Boys, and a course of study for three years adopted March 25, 1887. The dining hall and two dormitories were completed in season to open the school October 20, 1886, with fifty pupils. Two other dormitories have since been built so that 125 pupils can be accommodated. One more dormitory is contemplated, so that a total of 200 pupils may be lodged and instructed. It is not probable that provision will be made for any larger number.

By the terms of Mrs. Bishop's will, the Trustees are to "provide first and chiefly a good education in the common English branches, and also instruction in moral and in such useful knowledge as may tend to make good industrious men and women, and I desire instruction in the high branches to be subsidiary to the foregoing objects." The trustees are directed, also, to "devote a portion of each year's income to the support and education of orphans and others in indigent circumstances, giving the preference to Hawaiians of pure or part aboriginal blood." In carrying out the provision of the will, the trustees have opened the school thus far only to Hawaiians, believing such to be the intention of the benevolent founder; but the terms of the will do not exclude other nationalities from the enjoyment of its privileges, if Hawaiians do not choose to avail themselves of the advantages offered to them.

The land set apart for the uses of the school is at the terminus of the street railway at Palama. That enclosed for the boys' school comprises eighty-two acres, and lies on the northern side of King street. That set apart for the girls' school is at the southern side of King street, and comprises thirty acres. Situated on a gentle slope overlooking the harbor and city of Honolulu, fanned by the cool breezes from Kailua valley the location cannot be excelled for healthfulness, picturesqueness, or adaptability to the general purposes of the school. An artesian well furnishes an unlimited supply of purest water. The various workshops are located near the lower entrance. The first building on the left of the driveway is the tailor's shop and printing office. These are well equipped with the latest appliances for the best and most thorough instruction. Next beyond is the machine shop attached to which are the blacksmith shop, and rooms for wood turning and for pattern-making. A large boiler and an engine of twenty horse-power, not only furnishes the power for various lathes, planers, bellows, but also for the pump that fills the tanks holding 25,000 gallons, and for the dynamo that supplies electric light to all the premises. Two large swimming tanks furnish abundant opportunity for maintaining perfect cleanliness of body, so necessary for the perfect working of the human organism. The building farthest from the driveway is the carpenter's and joiner's shop, with benches for twenty-four pupils. On the northern side of the driveway are arranged the dormitories and dining hall (between the residences of instructors with families). The rooms in the dormitories are 15 by 12 feet, and are furnished with iron bedsteads and other accessories. The dining hall is built in the form of a cross, the long arm being 80 by 30 feet, and the short one 25 by 30 feet, and will amply accommodate two hundred people at twenty tables. A passage way connects with the stone kitchen and a commodious store room. The dormitories are arranged around a court in which is a large laundry and other smaller outbuildings. The Principal's residence is at the upper end of the driveway, a roomy and tasteful two-story building.

Back of this residence is the Gymnasium. Parallel with the Principal's house and facing the city is the Museum, of massive architecture, of two stories, built of vesicular gray basalt, quarried on the place. It has a frontage of about 90 feet with a depth of 35 feet, and to this has recently been added on the rear an annex of very nearly the same dimensions. Beyond this, at an angle, facing the upper entrance is the Bishop Hall for recitation, offices and assembly room. The assembly hall, in the second story, is about sixty-five feet by forty. Below this are two large recitation rooms, and in a wing of nearly the same dimensions as the main building, are four more recitation rooms. A well furnished library and reading room occupy the room over the entrance, at the right hand of which, in the lower corner of a lofty tower, is the Principal's office.

Beyond Bishop hall toward the upper entrance is the residence of the assistant teachers. Near the upper entrance is the building for the Preparatory School, accommodating sixty boys from seven to twelve years of age. The total length of the building is one hundred and eight feet, and the two ends are 60 feet in depth. The central portion of the building is 32 feet in depth; the two ends 24 feet in width. There are two dormitories in the upper stories of the two ends. In the central portion are the Principal's rooms below and the teachers' bedrooms above. Back of the main building is a large tank and beyond it cottages for the employees and various outbuildings.

A school monthly, Handicraft, is published regularly, (on the last page of which is the list of teachers and general statements as to requirements for admission and the course of study pursued.)

The Annual Report of the Trustees which Mrs. Bishop's will required to be made to the Chief Justice showed for 1893 an available revenue of $62,008.55. The disbursements on account of the boys' schools were $33,545.15. The Museum, Bishop Hall and the Preparatory School have all been erected by Hon. C. R. Bishop, no part of the cost being borne by the trustees. Additional landed estates have been also given by him to the trustees; and recently surpluses amounting to $30,000 have also been received from this generous benefactor the income to be applied to the maintenance and extension of the Museum.

REV. C. M. HYDE, D. D.
